State Senator Fred O. "Bud" Dickinson Is Palm Beach County's Probable Candidate For Governor In 1960

STATE SENATOR FRED O. (BUD) DICKINSON
Representing 35th Senatorial District
From West Palm Beach

POPULAR WEST PALM BEACH ATTORNEY RECEIVES SUPPORT FROM STATE-WIDE GROUPS

It looks like Palm Beach County will have an entrant in the upcoming Governor's race next Spring. State Senator Fred O. "Bud" Dickinson of West Palm Beach, the highest political honor. Allen Morris, news analyst of Tallahassee, recently wrote an interesting article about Senator Dickinson and it is with pleasure that The Everglades News reproduces it here in full:

When a January political speech is delivered in mid-summer, as was done by Sen. Fred O. Dickinson the other noon in Ft. Myers, the question of "why?" naturally occurs.

It does so in part because the 37-year-old West Palm Beach lawyer has been moving knowledgeably toward a goal of high public office ever since he was pouring extemporaneous orations at 13 into a "microphone" of a tomato-can on a broomstick in the family living room.

Careful analysis of the Ft. Myers speech discloses it was on off-the-cuff Florida-forward exhortation (as Dickinson delivered to 127 state conventions during the year prior to the convening of the '59 Legislature) but an oratorical minefield.

A reader familiar with political language-within-language reasonably could infer from the Dickinson speech these purposes beyond the immediate one of providing after-lunch food-for-thought for his in-person audience:

1. To put persons statewide on notice he likely will run for governor so no one could say that he was "so sorry" but pledged to another aspirant because he did not realize Dickinson might be in the race.

2. To obtain general distribution of his Ft. Myers remarks, it was necessary to give them newsworthiness by a salting of punchy comments. He stirred up a number of important groups, notably educators, but not in any way to cause him lasting political harm.

3. To gain an offensive advantage by wallowing the two prospective candidates — not by name, but unmistakably former House Speaker C. Farris Bryant of Ocala and Sen. Doyle E. Carlton, Jr., of Waukegan — who could be expected to draw from the same pool of voters, namely the business, professional and civic life to serve as his rallying point. Thus, when Dickinson goes into a publicized local meeting, he doesn't face the usual political cross-section of people with different and often conflicting personal interests. Instead, Dickinson can talk about that which concerns them most — their own workaday pursuits and how the government can be of help.

He's a student of Florida government. He learned from books, from campaigns (he first met Spessard Holland and F. Lee Warren when the three spoke — Dickinson on behalf of his hometown candidate, B. F. Paty — from the rear end of a truck at Inverness during the '40 gubernatorial race), and from service in the State House and Senate.

Dickinson is a rare individual. He seems always to have done the "right" things. And politicians whose biographies are studied with the "right" things are naturally suspect.

But certainly "Bud" — as first his sisters called him — didn't explode the Florida boom of the 1920s. The Dickinson family hit the skids fast. They had a chauffer and a governess and then, just four months later, "Bud" and his father were trudging behind a plow.

There are those who say that Dickinson resembles Bob Hope in facial appearance. He has a strong jaw, sparkling brown eyes, stands six feet tall, and weighs 187 pounds. He has a high hairline, perhaps due to the rubbing of his helmet.

At least once a week he drives his mint-condition Model T. He does this not as a political gimmick but because he enjoys good machinery, has a regard for objects historical, and thinks the old machine helps put life in perspective: that there is a lesson in the fact that it may take twice as long to get places around town as it does in his modern car, but his Model T both gets him to his destination and allows him to observe what's happening along his route.

His esteem for fine steel and for the traditional blend in his use of the straight razor. The honing of the blade affords the opportunity to think and examination of the handle — he has some 50 razors — reminds him of the craftsmanship and artistry that men once gave to everyday objects. And the remembrance of conversational sessions with his father causes him now to serve as barber for his own sons (the Dickinsons have three boys and a girl).

In a geographical and philosophical sense.

4. To stake out first claim, by putting these on public record, to a number of affirmative platform planks. He said strong executive leadership could bring (among other ideals) a better coordinated program of Florida promotion, greater boating use by homefolks and tourists of the state's 33,000 lakes, faster development of parks, and historic memorials, and the mandatory teaching of Florida citizenship in schools.

After this flurry of punches to get opponents off-stride, Dickinson — who knows strategy both as a trial lawyer and as the middle-weight boxing champion of his Marine regiment on Guadalcanal — may be expected to resume his quiet organizational endeavors.

His technique is to find a sparkplug in each segment of a com-

You Get Your Paper While We Vacation

Years ago it was next to the impossible for Country Weekly Editors to get a vacation. This day and age it is different. The editor-publisher of this newspaper devised a way to keep the post office department and subscribers satisfied during a two weeks vacation, and several publishers in Florida have taken advantage of the idea. We are happy to be able to be of service to our fellow publishers in passing along modern publication plans. Today, while you are reading this paper, we are sitting quietly along a creek bank with a baited hook, hoping no fish finds it, taking life easy. Of course, on Sept. 2 we'll be back on the job, ready for another 12 months of labor.

Physical Check-Up Urged For Students

JACKSONVILLE — A physical examination and immunization check-up for children before school starts was urged by the State Board of Health this week.

"At this time when we are reminded of the need to buy the things children need for starting back to school, it is equally important that we make sure the children are ready from the health standpoint," said Doctor S. D. Doff, Director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health.

"Private physicians and public health authorities are agreed that every child should have a physical examination and a check on his immunization status before he starts to school in September. The examination would determine whether any defect is present and should be treated. Protection against certain diseases is accomplished through inoculation and vaccination. Before starting in the first grade each child should have the basic shots for diphtheria, whooping cough, lockjaw and polio, or booster shots may be needed for these. Determine if the child's immunization and examinations schedule is up-to-date," says Doctor Doff. "Polio shots are temporarily in short supply, but they also should be given when available."

"Children entering school need health protection as much as they need school supplies and wearing apparel," Doctor Doff concluded.

ACL Head To Speak To State Growers Miami Convention

W. Thomas Rice, Wilmington, North Carolina, President of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, will be keynote speaker for the 16th Annual Convention of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association at Miami Beach on September 23, according to an announcement by J. P. Harlee, Jr., Palmetto, General Convention Chairman.

"Mr. Rice has accepted our invitation to make the keynote address at the coming convention and will speak on the subject of 'Agriculture at the Crossroads.' Mr. Rice is a noted speaker and his address will be factual and of great interest to this convention," said Harlee.

"After attending the public schools in Westmoreland County, Virginia, where he was born, he entered Virginia Polytechnic Institute in September, 1930, and was graduated in June, 1934, with a BS degree in civil engineering.

"Following graduation, he entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Operating Department and held several positions before being called to active duty with the Army of the United States in 1942 as a first lieutenant. He served three years overseas in the European and Asiatic Theatres, attaining the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, and returned to the United States in December, 1945. Among his assignments while overseas was command of a portion of the Iranian State Railway.

"During his foreign service, Mr. Rice was awarded the Legion of Merit with oak leaf cluster. He is now a Major General in the Army Reserve Corps, serving as Director General, Transportation, Railway Service, and is also Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army for the State of Virginia.

"Following his return to civilian life, Mr. Rice entered the service of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad in February 1946. On September 1, 1946, he was appointed Superintendent of Potomac Yard; on July 1, 1949, Superintendent at Richmond; and on May 1, 1951, General Superintendent. On January 1, 1955, he was elected President of the Company and held that position until becoming President of the Atlantic Coast Line on August 1, 1957.

"Mr. Rice is an officer and director in a number of rail and terminal companies affiliated with the Atlantic Coast Line, as well as a director of the Transportation Association of America, the Association of American Railroads, the Fruit Growers Express Company, the First and Merchants National Bank of Richmond and the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville. He is also a Vice-President of the National Defense Transportation Association and a member of the Transportation and Communication Committee, Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"He is an Episcopalian, a member of Rotary International, and member of several national professional societies.

"He is a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, and Omicron Delta Kappa, Leadership fraternity.

"Mr. Rice was married on September 14, 1935, to the former Miss Jacqueline Johnston, and they have two children, a son, John Thomas, age 19, who is a student at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and a daughter, Jacqueline Norma, age 9.

"It is indeed an honor for this association to have Mr. Rice as a guest speaker," said Harlee.

Passenger Trains Are Unprofitable And Being Dropped

WASHINGTON—The railroads are dropping unprofitable passenger trains as fast as they can, an Interstate Commerce Commission survey showed today.

They have discontinued 41 since an administrative short cut was approved by Congress last year. They also have started proceedings to eliminate 60 more interstate passenger runs and 40 intrastate trains.

The ICC also gave railroads permission to abandon 4664 miles of track from 1954 to the start of this year.

The survey appeared to bear out a recent warning by ICC Examiner Howard Hosmer that intercity passenger train service would be dead by 1970 if railroads continued their current practices.

The flood of discontinued trains followed approval of the 1958 Transportation Act which eliminated previous red tape surrounding route abandonments.

Under the act, a railroad gives 30-days notice of plans to abandon passenger trains. The ICC then has 20 days to block the proposal by suspending the discontinuance for four months pending an investigation.

Before passage of the 1958 law, proposals to abandon passenger train service were handled by less sympathetic state regulatory commissions. Now if a state commission fails to act or denies a discontinuance, the railroad is free to petition the ICC.

Some members of Congress have been alarmed at the speed with which rail carriers have been abandoning routes.

The Senate Commerce Committee recently concluded hearings on two amendments to the transportation act which would tighten the procedure for halting passenger service. The proposals were made by Sens. Clifford P. Case (R., N. J.) and Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D., N. J.).

The amendments would require the commission to investigate and hold public hearings on each discontinuance application, eliminate the time limits and place the burden of proof on the carriers.

Lawn Care Here & Colorado Are Alike

Colorado and Florida garden experts aren't so far apart after all—in their ideas on how to take care of grass.

A lawn care bulletin recently issued by a manufacturer of lawn equipment quoted a Colorado agriculture experiment station as recommending frequent light waterings. The bulletin sent out by O. M. Scott & Sons termed the idea that lawns should be watered thoroughly but not so often "an old wives' tale."

Since Florida's experiment stations recommended the deep watering procedure a letter was sent to Colorado asking for details. A reply just sent to the Dade County agriculture agent declares that Colorado horticulturists definitely do not recommend light watering.

They agreed that "light sprinklings cause shallow-rooted grass subject to drought injury . . . encourage diseases . . . and benefit annual grasses and other weeds."

The mistaken interpretation apparently resulted, according to the Colorado researchers, from Scott's quoting from partial results of a five-year study.

Pedestrian Gets Break In Traffic

TALLAHASSEE—For the first time in history, the action of a pedestrian around traffic in rural Florida is now governed by law.

The 1959 legislature set down some rules for the walker to observe on the highways and established certain penalties unless they are followed.

The legislature's action came as a result of the increasing number of pedestrians who are annually killed or injured in the state, many of them on rural highways.

The toll last year was 243 out of 1,140 highway fatalities, almost 20 per cent of the state's traffic death toll. One hundred twenty-nine pedestrian deaths were on rural highways.

The injured climbed to 2,638 out of a total 33,587, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

Basically, the new law provides that all pedestrians shall:

Walk on sidewalks where they are provided in rural areas.

Walk on the left side of the highway on the shoulder facing oncoming traffic where there are no sidewalks.

Stand off paved portion of a highway when soliciting (thumbing) a ride or when soliciting employment or business.

While penalties in each case would be left up to the discretion of the court, fines would be comparable with those meted out in other traffic convictions.

Orange Blossom For National Flower

Gov. LeRoy Collins today put in a plug for the orange blossom as the national flower. Collins, in a letter to Stanley Minshall of Detroit, Mich., president of the Florists Telegraph Delivery Association, put in a good word for Florida's state flower in the upcoming election to pick America's floral emblem.

Minshall wrote Collins, asking the Governor's support of the election, which will be held in October. He said the 11,000 members of his organization would open their shops as polling places for the vote.

Collins said, "The orange blossom is Florida's adopted flower. Naturally, we would like for it to become the floral symbol of the nation. I am confident the people of Florida will rally to its support."

Pick your savings target and shoot straight for it!

A home . . . financial security . . . a business of your own. Important savings targets like these cost money—a substantial sum—and more than most of us have. But here's a sure way for you to score a bull's-eye and walk off with the big prize you want.

The secret of saving is system. And the simplest, most automatic saving system ever devised is the Payroll Savings Plan. Best of all, you do more than save through Payroll Savings. You invest your money, too, and make it grow. Here's how it works:

Tell your company pay office how much you want to save each week. Then each pay period that amount will be put aside for you before you have a chance to spend it. Your money will go automatically into U. S. Series E Savings Bonds.

Because Savings Bonds earn good interest—3% compounded semiannually when held to maturity (9 years and 8 months)—they're soon worth much more than you've invested in them. And your Bonds will continue to pay this same good interest as long as 19 years and 8 months. That means a return of up to 80% more than you originally paid.

And remember this. There's no guesswork or chance about the Payroll Savings Plan. It's absolutely safe and sure. Invest just $7.50 a week. In 5 years you'll have Savings Bonds worth $2053 in cash; in 10 years, $4448.

Even if you've never been able to save before, this plan is guaranteed to work for you. So sign up today for Payroll Savings where you work—or invest in Bonds regularly where you bank.

For the big things in your life, be ready with U. S. Savings Bonds

Uncle Sam made the bonds you own, an even better bargain!

Now your maturing Series E Bonds can earn interest 10 more years at 3%

PRESENT TREASURY REGULATIONS make it possible for you to collect a return of as much as 80% on the Series E Savings Bonds you already own!

For now those Bonds which you invested in 10 years ago can go right on earning interest for ten more years without your doing a thing about it! That is true not only of the Bonds which you have held for ten years, but any other Series E Bonds which you have invested in in the meantime. And any Series E Bonds which you obtain now will also enjoy the extended earning period. They will start earning interest sooner and mature earlier, too, paying 3%, compounded semiannually.

The Bond you got for $18.75 can now pay you $33.67 ... a $37.50 Bond will be worth $67.34 ... and so on.

Of course, any Series E Bond may still be redeemed at any time after you have held it for two months. But, like any other form of saving, your Bonds will mean a great deal more to you if you can hold on to them.

Are you one of the millions of Americans who are saving regularly with Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan? If you're not, why not start now? Invest regularly in Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Ask your pay office to save as little as 25¢ a week for you, or as much as you are able.

If you can save just $5 a week regularly through the Plan, in five years you will have $1,367.90 ... in 9 years and 8 months, you'll have $2,860.70 ... and in 19 years and 8 months, $6,872.45! This Plan is one sure way to save because it saves something out of every check before you have a chance to spend it.

So join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work today. Or, if you are self-employed, start the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. It's safe, it's sure, it's automatic. And you will be helping yourself and your country!

If you want to be paid your interest as current income—
invest in 3% Series H

If you want a good, sound investment which pays you your interest by check every six months, ask at your bank about United States Government Series H Bonds. Series H is a new current income Bond available in denominations of $500 to $10,000. Redeemable at par after 6 months and on 30 days' notice. Matures in 9 years and 8 months and pays an average 3% interest per annum if held to maturity. Interest paid semiannually by Treasury check. Series H may be purchased at any bank, annual limit $30,000.

Now even better! Invest more in Savings Bonds!

Women's Hair Dye Isn't A Thing New

CAIRO, Egypt—Women will be women, now or 5,000 years ago. It appears that Egyptian women as far back as 3,200 B. C. were old hands at the art of hair dying.

Remains of mummies recently discovered in a tomb in nearby Helwan had golden hair while others had fiery red hair. Since genuine Egyptian blondes and redheads are a rarity today, the chances are these ladies of ancient Egypt were no strangers to the tricks of hair dying.

Ancient Egyptian women also seem to have been experts on all kinds of cosmetics, particularly eye shades, or what is known here as Kohl. Pots of black, green, grey and brown kohl were discovered in the Helwan tomb.

Numerous vases were also found in the tomb containing several kinds of perfume and cosmetics. Analysis showed the cosmetics were mainly composed of fatty material mixed with red oxide of iron and ground limestone.

This composition apparently gave the face a rosy color due to the presence of the red oxide of iron, and the fatty substance contributed to a glowing complexion.

In the same tomb a copper mirror was found with a wooden handle. When well polished, the copper apparently gave a very good reflection, and these mirrors were much superior to any used by the ancient beauties of Rome.

Ancient Egyptian women were also sticklers for jewelry. There were many varieties of necklaces but a popular design was several rows of small cylindrical beads covering almost the whole upper part of the bosom. Each row of beads was a different color. Also popular were semi-precious stones. An average ancient Egyptian lady apparently had as many as seven necklaces and nine bracelets.

The Egyptian ladies of 5,000 years ago wore long robes reaching to the feet. The upper part of the robes varied in design. Some had sleeves while others were attached at one shoulder, in most cases the left by a ribbon. The shoulder knot does not differ from the bow knots we make today. Some of these robes had braces, which made the robe hang below the shoulder displaying a great deal of the back, like a modern evening dress.

Likker Heads Are More Numerous In State Than Elsewhere

DAYTONA BEACH—Alcoholism is increasing faster in Florida than in any other Southern state. So said Ernest A. Shepherd, director of Florida's alcoholic rehabilitation program, as he addressed a conference of the Central Florida Public Health Association.

About 44 per cent of the adult population drinks, according to Shepherd, and one out of every 16 to 20 of them is headed for alcoholism.

The magnitude of the problem is "something which even public health authorities are reluctant to accept," he added. To cope with it, the state contributes one per cent of the alcohol beverage tax funds to the alcoholic rehabilitation center in Avon Park.

Reasons for the rise in alcoholism aren't clear, Shepherd added, although it may be the heavy migration from Northern metropolitan centers may be a contributing factor. Alcoholism is prevalent in these areas, he said.

Migrant Housing In Florida Worse Than Other Spots

A U. S. expert on migrant labor problems says that Florida lags behind the rest of the nation in bettering conditions of migrant workers.

But A. F. Potter, executive director of the President's Committee on Migratory Labor, said "great administrative strides" in the past year have helped improve Florida's situation.

Potter met in Miami with welfare, health, church and agricultural officials of the Dade Welfare Planning Council to discuss the problem.

"The migrant labor force in the United States is a necessary and beneficial factor in the nation's economy," Potter said.

He pointed out that the migrant is valuable to the community in which he works because he buys consumer goods during his stay. The worker is valuable to the grower because there is no other source of cheap, temporary labor to harvest seasonal crops.

Potter said he was favorably impressed here with community interest and government work. It was stimulated after the plight of jobless workers in Immokalee attracted national interest last year.

But he said Florida does not measure up to most states in the passage of legislation to protect migrants. He cited the lack of laws in Florida to require "crew leaders" to register with the state. He called this a stumbling block in the protection of migrants.

Crew leaders are men who transport groups of workers and act as their agents in dealing with growers.

Crew leaders are necessary but some of them exploit their men, sell their services and pocket the money or leave them stranded in areas where there is no work, Potter explained.

"It is necessary for the federal government to aid and advise the state... because these workers move from state to state and have become a nationwide problem," Potter said.

But he added, "It is far more satisfactory for the states to enforce laws concerning these workers and to assume responsibility for their welfare."

There are about 500,000 migrant laborers in the United States, not including the nonworking members of their families that move with them.

Potter said they have not been able to use political influence to help their conditions because, being transients, they have no vote.

Mock Bombing To Attack Capitol

MIAMI BEACH—Simulated "bombings" of the State Capitol at Tallahassee, MacDill Air Force Base at Tampa and other Florida points will signal the start of the largest defense meetings in the nation here September 3-6.

Peter Schnek, president of the Air Force Association, announced that the annual Ricks trophy competition, a timed photo mission from Memphis, Tenn., to Miami with various "targets" in Florida enroute, will proceed the Air Force Association convention and 1959 Aerospace Pandrama. The convention and Pandrama will bring hundreds of the nation's top military leaders, scientists, educators and industrialists to Florida.

The Ricks event, sponsored by the AFA in honor of the late Major General Earl T. Ricks, former chief of the Air National Guard, will put 10 of the nation's top tactical reconnaissance squadrons in competition on a simulated combat mission.

The 10 pilots will have to take aerial photos enroute to Miami from Memphis of at least three of eight designated "targets" including a mandatory requirement of the State Capitol and MacDill Air Force Base. The winning pilot will be the one who produces at least three acceptable photos of the "targets" in the shortest elapsed time from Memphis to Miami.

At the convention and Pandrama, the United States Air Force will report to the nation of its activities in various defense fields, including that of missile research and development. More than a score of high-ranking Air Force leaders will attend the convention and Pandrama including Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas.

Mrs. Mildred Douglass and son of Carthage, Tenn., are spending a month here with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fountain, and family.

Mary Ann Miller Weds Walter Kautz

The marriage of Miss Mary Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Miller of Nakomis, Ill., and Walter J. Kautz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kautz of Canal Point, was solemnized in a double ring ceremony held at the Canal Point Methodist Church Sunday, August 16, immediately following the morning worship service, with the Rev. Robert A. Shelley, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Carl Wagoner of Belle Glade, sister of the bride, as matron of honor was the bride's only attendant.

Joe Kent Carr of Pahokee, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a street-length dress of blue satin with fitted bodice, full skirt and white accessories. Around her neck was a strand of pearls which originally belonged to her grandmother. She carried a white Bible centered with white carnations.

The matron of honor wore a pink cotton dress with white accessories and carried orchid mums.

Following the ceremony a family dinner honoring the bridal couple was held in the pavilion at the Pahokee City Park with approximately 100 persons attending.

Following a honeymoon at Daytona Beach Mr. and Mrs. Kautz are now at their home at Canal Point.

SMALL SQUAD TRAINS FOR BLUE DEVILS

It Is Unlawful For Any Person Or Persons To Engage In Business Under A Fictitious Name Unless The Name Is Registered

The fictitious name statute was recently changed by the 1951 Legislature and the News has the necessary forms for proper registration and advertising.

The charge for advertising the notice the necessary four times is $15.

As amended by the 1951 session, the law reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, as defined herein, to engage in business as herein defined, under a fictitious name as herein defined, without and unless said fictitious name shall be registered with the clerk of the circuit court of the county where the principal place of business is, which registration shall consist of filing with the clerk aforesaid an affidavit signed by all interested persons, stating under oath the names of all those interested in the business enterprise, the extent of the interest of each, and the fictitious name under which said business is carried on. Said registration may not be made until the person or persons desiring to engage in business under a fictitious name shall have advertised his or their intention to register said fictitious name at least once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks in some newspaper as defined by law in the county where said registration is to be made, and said registration shall not be accepted by the clerk of the circuit court except upon receiving proof of such publication."

Florida 4-H Clubs Operate Extensive Forestry Projects

GAINESVILLE — Florida 4-H Club members are taking an active part in one of the state's largest industries, forestry, according to T. G. Herndon, forester with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service.

During the past 16 years 14 tracts of forest land have been leased or assigned to 4-H organizations. Forest projects have been established in Escambia, Gadsden, Dixie, Lafayette, Clay, St. Johns, Putnam, Flagler, Volusia and Nassau counties. There are also two forest each in Orange and Taylor counties.

Herndon says the total forest acreage in these projects exceeds 1,800 acres. Size of the tracts ranges from 10 to 440 acres.

Land leases and grants come from many sources, including pulp and paper companies, lumber companies, other private firms, county and state, and donations by private citizens.

Among industry contributions are the Buckeye Cellulose Corporation, Hudson Pulp and Paper Company, St. Marys Craft Corporation, St. Regis Paper Company, Florida Power Corporation, American Sumatra Tobacco Company, and Weaver Loughridge Lumber Company.

In addition to those already in operation, Herndon says another 15 4-H forest projects are proposed for the future. While actual management for these tracts is closely supervised by the sponsoring organizations, much of the work is done by Club members.

In most cases all but 25 percent of the profits is put aside for youth improvement work. The remaining is put back into property maintenance. Financial reports and proposed plans of operation are submitted annually to the sponsoring organization and the Extension Service.

Christ Jesus' triumphant over material laws of limitation established the supremacy of God's unchangeable law.

This is a theme to be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus." Included in the Bible references to be read is the account in John (6) of Jesus' feeding of five thousand men with five loaves and two fishes.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (273:21-25): "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator. Jesus walked on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws."

The Golden Text is from John (3:16): "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Cigaret Smokers Death Rate Higher Than Non-Smokers

WASHINGTON — A research scientist says the rate of death from all causes is nearly twice as great for heavy cigarette smokers as for non-smokers.

He defines a heavy cigarette smoker as a person who smokes two packs or more a day. The comparative death rates are reported by Dr. Harold F. Dorn in Public Health Reports, monthly publication of the U. S. Public Health Service.

His findings resulted from a study of "the mortality experience" of nearly 200,000 war veterans whose smoking practices had been learned before their death.

Dorn concluded that smokers run more risks than others of dying from any of several ailments, including lung cancer, coronary heart disease, certain respiratory ailments, ulcers, and cirrhosis of the liver.

The death rate for regular cigarette smokers, Dorn found, was 58 per cent greater than for non-smokers. For those who smoked two packs or more a day, the rate averaged "nearly twice that for non-smokers."

"The death rates for the heaviest cigar or pipe smokers, those smoking nine or more cigars or 20 or more pipefuls a day, are about the same as the rate of persons who smoke from one-half to one pack of cigarettes a day."

Florida's importance as an agricultural state is constantly rising. Products sold last year amounted to 750 million dollars—an average of over $13,000 per farm. That's $5,850 higher than the national average... and a substantial chunk of Florida's economy.

Hats off to the Florida Farmer and to the County Agent who is helpful in so many ways. Backing them up is Reddy Kilowatt—"wired helper" who has freed the farmer from drudgery and lightened the burden of housework for the farmer's wife.

a castle in the air costs nothing —but you can't live in it!

Make your dream house come true! It's easy
—through Payroll Savings!

If you think you can't own the home of your dreams because the down payment's too steep, chances are you've never tried the Payroll Savings Plan. Because this is the easy, automatic way to meet any down payment—for a house or any large purchase.

Just do this: Sign a Payroll Savings application at your pay office, naming a certain sum to be kept aside from your pay before you get it each week—a few dollars or as much as you want. After that, you're saving automatically—nothing to worry about, nothing to do. And, best of all, the money saved out of your pay each week is automatically invested for you in U. S. Series E Savings Bonds.

Because Savings Bonds earn solid interest—3% cumulative semiannually when held to maturity —the few dollars saved from your pay each week soon grow into big handsome amounts. For instance, if you sign for $10.00 a week, in just five years you'll have $3,346.95 cash. In 9 years, 8 months, you'll have $7,217.20!

So don't let down payments get you down. Meet your needs; live easily; cash the way more than 3 million other Americans are meeting theirs—join the Payroll Savings Plan today. Or, if you're self-employed, invest in Bonds regularly where you bank. Start now to make your dreams come true!

If you want your interest or current income, ask your bank about Series E Bonds, which pay interest monthly to Treasury check.

Carol Ruth Carpenter Weds Dan Borgnaes

Miss Carol Ruth Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Daniel Carpenter of Pahokee, became the bride of Dan Borgnaes, son of Enoch Borgnaes of New York City and the late Helen Borgnaes, at the Pahokee First Methodist Church Sunday, Aug. 16, at 4:30 p. m. in a candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Donald Padgett of Chieftand, Fla., cousin of the bride, before an altar decorated with palms, fern and baskets of white gladioli and pompons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown with bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace featuring a sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves closed by tiny covered buttons. A wide silk organza bow accented the full panned skirt of silk organza over net and taffeta that swept into a court train. Her elbow-length veil of French illusion was attached to a sweetheart clip-on headpiece of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible with a cascade of white roses, tuberoses and ivy.

Her sister, Mrs. Vance Denton, matron of honor, and Mrs. Richard Thierry, bridesmatron, wore identical dresses of pale green lace and silk organza with matching headpieces, trimmed in seed pearls, and silk illusion veils. Mrs. Denton carried a cascade of yellow roses and Mrs. Thierry, pink roses. Colette Carpenter of Belle Glade, niece of the bride, as flower girl wore a deeper shade of green lace and silk organza with matching cap, trimmed in seed pearls, and carried a ruffled green and white basket with red rose petals.

Edward Borgnaes of Bloomfield, N. J., served as his brother's best man. Larry Sly of Homestead and Robert Baden of Miami were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Carpenter wore a dress of violet Irish linen trimmed in matching satin with accessories to match and an orchid corsage. Mrs. C. A. Shive, grandmother of the bride, wore blue lace and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 614 East Main St. The bride's table held a tiered cake flanked by crystal candelabra bearing lighted pink candles. The table, covered by a cut lace cloth, was decorated with tiny bouquets of sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

The bride graduated from Pahokee High School following which she attended Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., the Aspen School of Music, Aspen, Colo., and graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Music History from Florida State University last February. She plans to continue her studies for her Master's Degree at FSU.

Mr. Borgnaes graduated from Concordia Collegiate Institute at Bronxville, N. Y., and served for four years in the U. S. Air Force. He also attended school at New York University and is now working for a degree in chemistry at Florida State University.

After a honeymoon on the Florida East Coast the couple will reside at 630 N. Tharpe, Tallahassee.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rogers had as recent guests their daughter, Mrs. Bill Justice and children of Miami. Their granddaughter, Linda Sue Justice, remained in Pahokee for an extended visit.

Vance Denton, member of the Pahokee High School faculty, returned the past week from Boone, N. C., where he attended summer school at Appalachian State Teachers College. He was accompanied home by his grandmother, Mrs. Josie Gist Templeton, who spent the summer with relatives in North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Bleach have returned from a vacation spent with relatives and friends at Clayton, Ga., and North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Guthrie will have as a guest this weekend their granddaughter, Miss Marcia Jean Guthrie, of Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher spent the past week vacationing at Bimini.

Mrs. George Ramey spent the past week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Miller, III, who recently moved from Boone, N. C., to 10 Park Ave., Rockledge, Fla., where they are now making their home. Mr. Miller will teach business administration at Cocoa High School this year. Both he and Mrs. Miller did postgraduate work at Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone the past summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Barnes have returned from a week's vacation spent at Daytona Beach. Walter Ray Fountain is visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rice at Oteen, N. C.

W. M. DuBose, who has been visiting his wife in Pahokee, has returned to Jacksonville where he will teach school this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Tillis had as a recent guest their nephew, Roger Jaudon of Wauchula.

Mrs. George Elarbee and Mrs. Alice Dewhirst had as recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood of Manassas, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Smith of Daisy, Ga.

Mrs. Roberto Arrieta entertained at her home at Port Mayaca recently with a party for her son, Mack, who was celebrating his fifth birthday anniversary. The hostess was assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. James McCall, with the serving of refreshments to 28 guests.

Mrs. M. P. Stanley has returned to her home in Pahokee from a visit with friends in North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Walters have moved from Pahokee to Atlanta, Ga., where they are now making their home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hicks and family have returned to their home in Pittsburgh, Pa., after a visit with his mother, Mrs. Hazel Jenkins, in Pahokee. They also visited relatives in Virginia and the Carolinas enroute home.

Weldon Cardin returned recently from a visit with relatives in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Repper and son, Warren, will return this week from a vacation spent with relatives in Tallahassee and Jacksonville.

Poisoning Danger Is More Available

Now, more than ever, there is grave danger of accidental poisoning of livestock. Wider use of products which could be toxic is responsible for this danger. Paint, for instance, is a killer because it often contains lead or other poisonous metals.

Toxic metals used in paints generally are cumulative poisons. Therefore their effects may not be seen until occasional small amounts build up—as they can do—to a lethal dose. Many modern medicines and other chemicals are dangerous unless used exactly as directed. This applies to materials used for skin troubles and to some substances used for external parasites.

Pesticides for pastures, while extremely useful, are dangerous if not used exactly as directed. They are safe if animals are kept off treated areas and if mechanical harvest is delayed for the length of time directed by the manufacturer. Fertilizer also can kill livestock. Cattle especially relish nitrates and will consume lethal doses of this type fertilizer when it is available to them.

Some pasture plants may become toxic when they mature. If the seed heads of Dallas, Bahia or similar grasses look moldy, they could contain ergot. This substance causes abortion, and sometimes death. Poisonous weeds are often found in pastures, and almost complete consumption occurs in strip grazing or green chopping. Prevention is affected by frequent examinations, clipping, and (when necessary) spraying with the proper herbicide.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Tillis have as guests this week her brother, Wallace Jaudon, and children, Mary Sue and Gene, of Tampa; also their niece, Vera June Jaudon, of Wauchula.
